News Release

Sheriff Vernon Bourgeois says that a woman who reportedly hit her boyfriend in the face with a frozen beefsteak Sunday afternoon was jailed by investigating Terrebonne sheriff's deputies.

Edith Tassin, also known as Edith Verdin, 47, 348 Robert St., Houma, is charged with aggravated battery.

Jerry Voisin, 51, told officers Tassin had already been drinking and was trying to cool a "Tequila Rose" mixed drink when she became upset because she could not find room in the freezer.

In her frustration, Voisin said, Tassin took a frozen steak from the freezer and threw it at him, striking him in the face.

Officers said he was still bleeding from the right side of his face when they arrived at the scene about 6 p.m.

Verdin "Edna Elizabeth Tassin Verdin" was released from the Terrebonne Parish jail after posting bond.
