A Houma woman was arrested Tuesday in connection with a felony theft from her employer, Sheriff Vernon Bourgeois said.

TPSO received a complaint in early September from the owners of Houma Bearing Services. The owners reported that their long-time bookkeeper, Tammy Leonard, was suspected of stealing money from their company. An audit was conducted and monies were discovered missing.

The investigation revealed that Leonard, 44, of 213 Carolyn Avenue in Houma, wrote company checks to herself and altered the company's financial records in an attempt to cover the crime. The total amount Leonard reportedly stole over an 18 month period was approximately $10,000.00.

Leonard was arrested Tuesday afternoon for one count of felony theft. Her bond was set AT $35,000.
